FRONTLINE

Cable Act challenge 12
A federal judge in California has indicated he may hold the franchise renewal portions of the Cable Policy Act of 1984 unconstitutional.

TCI runaway 12
While other MSOs hesitate to let go of managerial control in exchange for gaining ownership of more subscribers, Tele-Communications Inc. is widening the gap between itself and the rest of the pack through deals like the $892-million Heritage Communications buyout.

Comcast signs with CVS 18
In a deal many see as a sign that the fence-sitting respecting pay-per-view is coming to an end, the once reluctant Comcast has become the first large-scale customer for Cable Video Store.

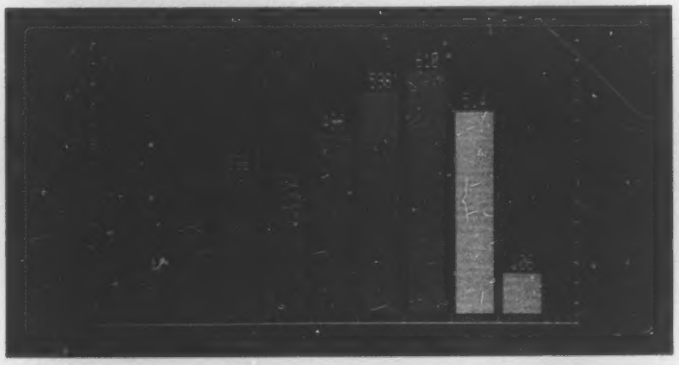
MARKETING

Consensus on channel lineups 44
As operators avail themselves of the freedoms under the Cable Act, they are experimenting with varying approaches to channel lineups with the result that more and more are moving to a strategy involving full use of VHF space and groupings by categories at higher channel levels.

LAW AND REGULATION

Florida coup 50
The Florida legislature has given operators a weapon to forestall attempts by overbuilders to cherry pick lucrative cable turf as well as to complicate enfranchisement of newcomers, even when they wish to wire entire communities. Legal challenges to the law are expected.

MANAGEMENT



Stretching billing software 54
Ever more demands are being made on billing vendors to supply operators with software that can work miracles on microcomputers. Vendors have responded with a host of new products (listed in an extensive product profile accompanying the feature), but operators are hoping for even more flexibility and speed.

BUSINESS

Adams-Russell transformed 64
A new corporate structure has freed Adams-Russell to become an aggressive player in system acquisitions. Its win in the bidding for the Rockford, Ill., system portends serious competition for other growth-oriented MSOs.

COVER STORY

CBN at 10 24
Going into its 11th year, CBN weighs the future in the context of founder Pat Robertson's presidential ambitions, funding fallout from the PTL scandal and big gains in ratings and ad support. Included is an exclusive interview with Robertson. Cover photo by Candace Drake.
